Our Residents are:

Recovering From Addictions

Whether it be lingering hurt from abuses suffered as a child, the sudden loss of a loved one, divorce, or extreme poverty, our residents are given the tools needed to recover from life's issues that feed drug & alcohol dependence.

Escaping Domestic Violence

The love of a Savior gives women the courage to escape toxic relationships. They are taught to value themselves both as daughters of God, and women in the world. Simple life skills and self-defense classes increase this new found confidence.

Moving from Homelessness

Not only do our residents benefit from free housing, they are taught job skills that will ensure their ability to provide a financially secure home for themselves and their loved ones upon graduation.

Healing from Sex-Trafficking

Our residents are protected from negative outside influences. They are given a peaceful, safe setting and time to heal from wounds inflicted upon them. They are also taught that they have value and freedom in Jesus.

Building from Divorce

Many of our residents are entering the work force for the first time. We help these precious ladies develop timely job skills, interview techniques, and secure financial aid for secondary educational classes.
